

This office project was designed for a shopping center developer. The initial concept was to create very functional and contemporary headquarters. The design intention was to build, through the language and the atmosphere, an architecture completely aside from the traditional / institutional one, based on the premise of the workplace as a second home where workers spent most of our time.

Photographs by Jaime Navarro

A mix of natural materials such as marble and wood, in contrast with colored tempered glass, stainless steel and iron, created balanced color and textures compositions and at the same time a combination between modern design and a warm ambiance.

stating that the company had not received any information from the bank regarding the account. The bank's representative stated that the account was not active and that the company should contact the bank's customer service department for further information.

Finally, the lighting is a key element in the design, with a combination of recessed ceiling lights and a floor lamp, creating a warm and inviting atmosphere.