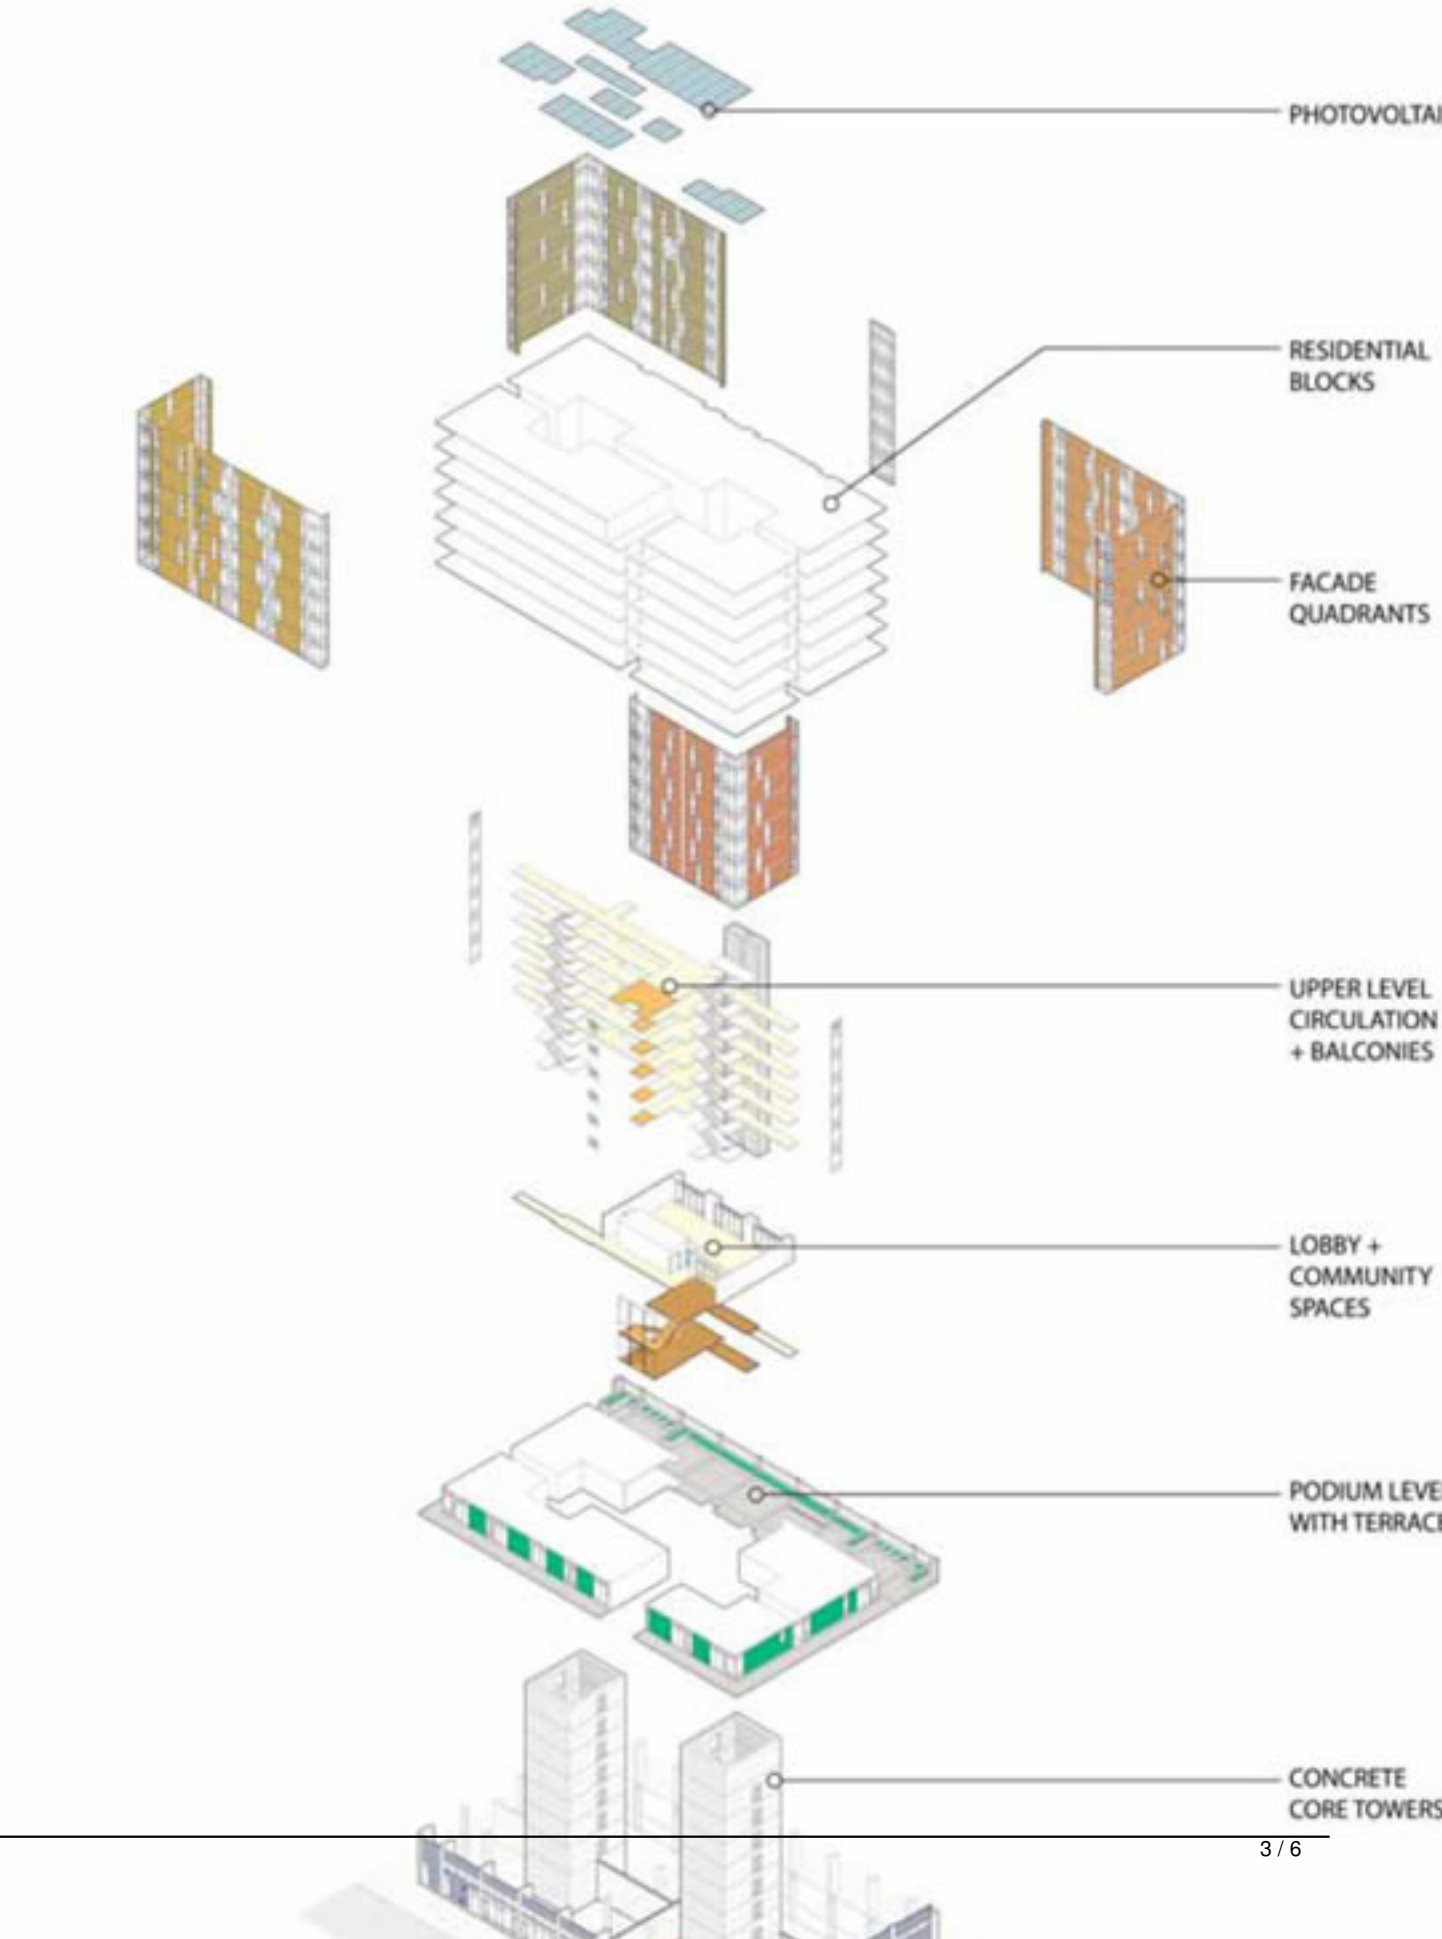
We continue the series dedicated to the recipients of the 2009 AIA Housing Awards, with this well designed apartment building.

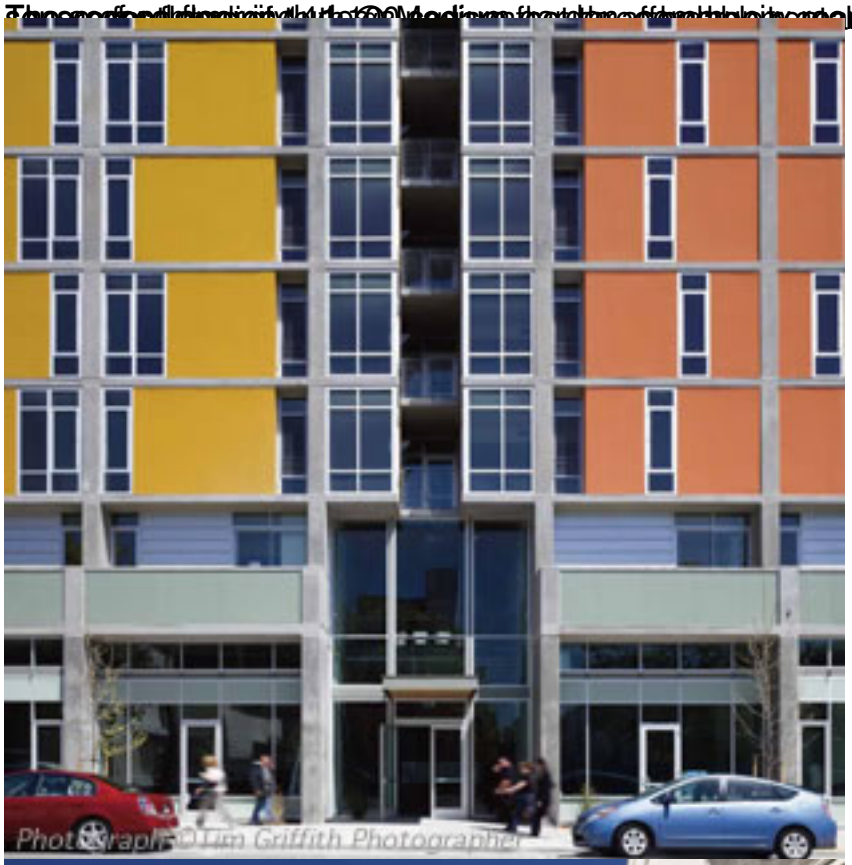
The building provides 79 apartments and supportive services for low-income residents and former foster youth at risk of becoming homeless.

The ground floor is activated by retail spaces that encourage pedestrian street use in the neighborhood.

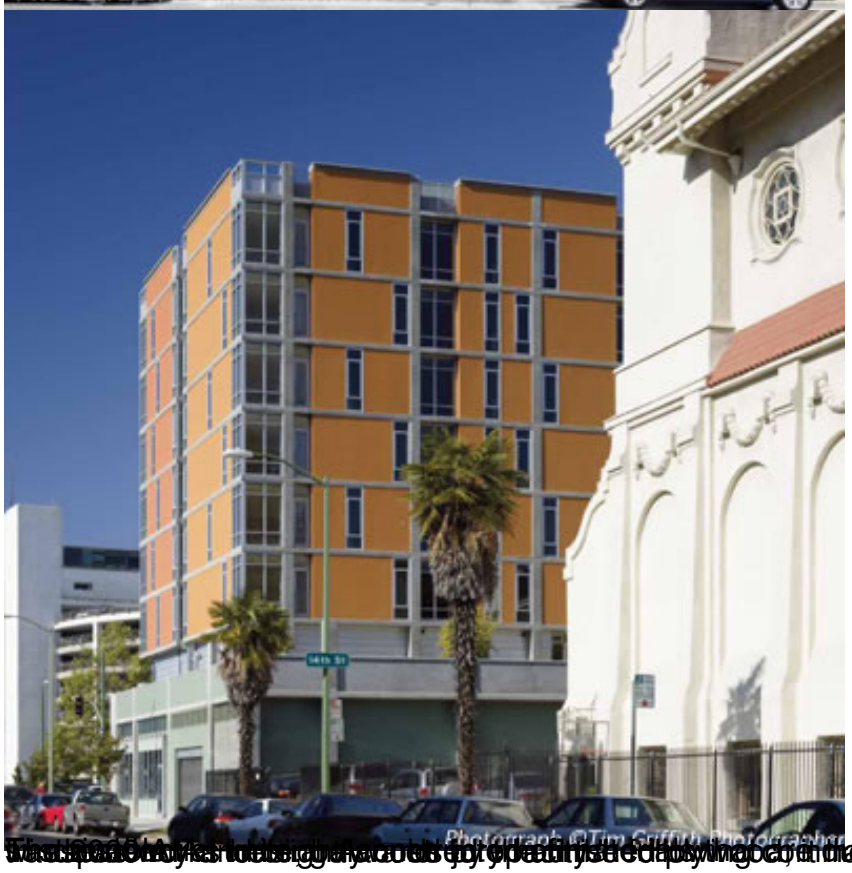
Photograph ©Tim Griffith Photographer



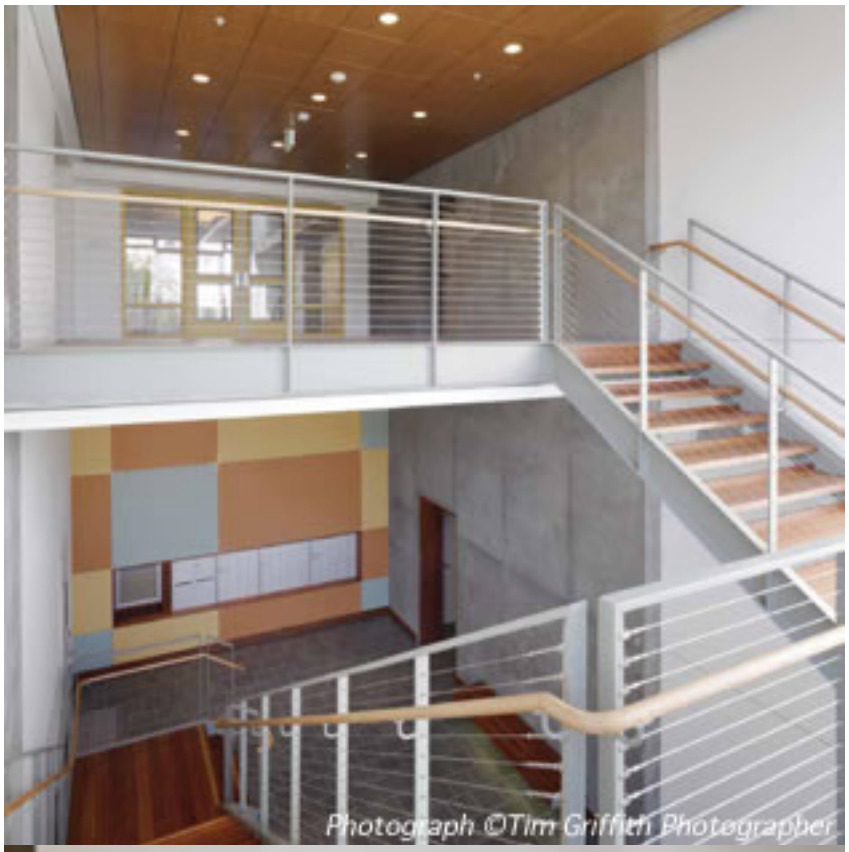
PHOTOVOLTAI
RESIDENTIAL BLOCKS
FACADE QUADRANTS
UPPER LEVEL CIRCULATION + BALCONIES
LOBBY + COMMUNITY SPACES
PODIUM LEVE WITH TERRACI
CONCRETE CORE TOWERS

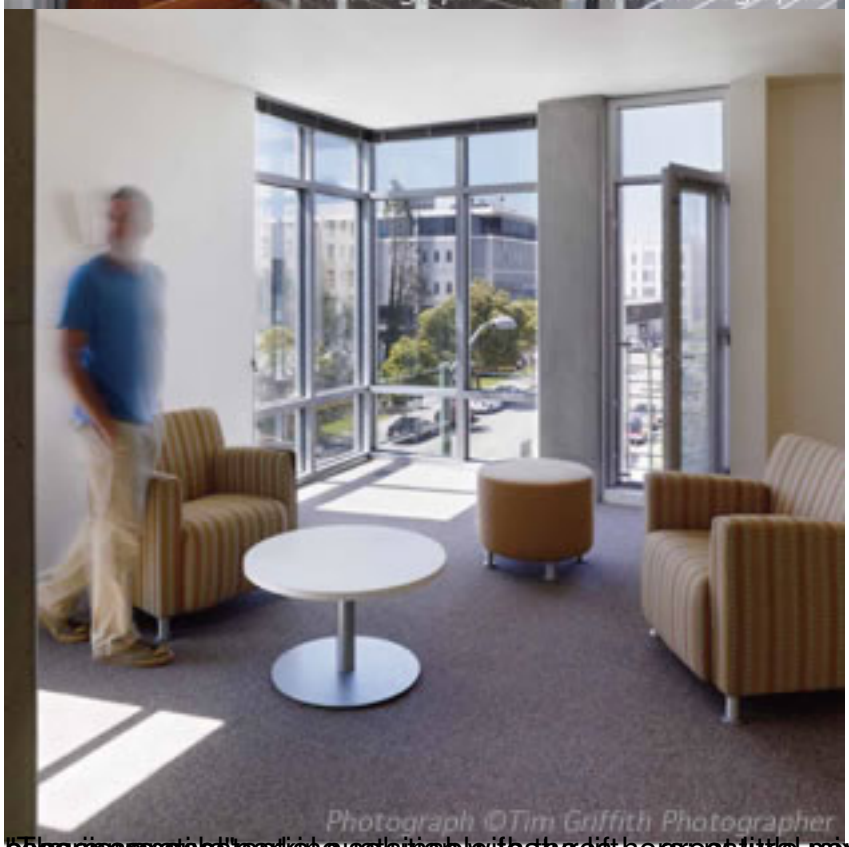


Photograph © Tim Griffith Photographer



14th St
Photograph © Tim Griffith Photographer





The inaccessible parking solution with the lift here, natural ventilation project with a social pole, causes the parking solution with the lift here, natural ventilation project with a social

Oakland, California, C&N Engineers (electrical)