Located in a diverdified borough within the outer areas of London, England, this project is the first phase of Allford Hall Monaghan Morris' re-development of Barking Central I for their client Redrow Regeneration & London Borough of Barking and Dagenham . The scheme comprises 246 one and two-bedroom flats in two new six storey blocks sitting above the two floors of a totally revitalised and extended library.

[illegible] supported

BLC
BARKING
LEARNING
CENTRE
Photograph © Kilia

Photograph © Kilian O'Sullivan

Photograph © Kilian O'Sullivan

Photograph © Kili

Photograph © Kilian O'Sullivan

MR. WHIPPY
99p
Photograph ©

2[illegible] (North Block) June

Article Text and Photographs courtesy of Allford Hall Monaghan Morris Architects.

Follow-up Article:

Barking Central Hall

The scheme is part of development on the site of Barking Town Hall and its new plaza and the Abbey Museum architects Allford Hall Monaghan Morris