

This residence is primarily used when the clients' extended family comes from England for long visits. They come to relax and to reconnect with their family and with nature, away from city crowds and traffic, at a retreat they neither want nor need to leave for a month.

The design objective was to make every day of that month unique by providing a range of destinations within the site with diverse scales, functions, and views: from gathering in the expansive living room overlooking the fields of the former peach orchard to reading alone on a shaded bench between the library and the edge of the forest. Multiple paths and hallways connect each destination, further increasing variety. Finally, each detail and custom furnishing is designed to make mundane rituals into thoughtful events.

{sidebar id=2}

{sidebar id=1}

© 2011 Bates Masi Architects. All rights reserved. This document is the property of Bates Masi Architects and is not to be distributed, copied, or reproduced without the written consent of Bates Masi Architects.

padding: 0 10px; border: 1px solid black; width: 100%; height: 20px; margin-bottom: 10px;">

© 2011 Bates Masi Architects. All rights reserved. This document is the property of Bates Masi Architects and is not to be distributed, copied, or reproduced without the written consent of Bates Masi Architects.

Photography: Northwest Peach Farm & Brian Mannix Builder

Plans

{gallery}Gal/110109{/gallery}