

A new school has just been inaugurated in the town of Sipoo, close to Helsinki, Finland. The building was designed by K2S Architects Ltd, who had won the design competition in 2004.

All photographs are courtesy of Marko Huttunen photographer.

The two sides of the column is a factor in minor to plate to the scale of the surrounding 5500 sqm building to meet the needs for the education of the future. The building is topped by a large

All photographs are provided by Markku Hiltunen photographer.