

The complex is situated in the southern portion of the prestigious 16eme arrondissement of Paris, bordering the Seine. The entire block surrounding the project is dedicated to different sports and cultural activities.

The way that the building was oriented provides a complete and quite unique view on the river Seine. The opening towards that view came at a price, since it has also exposed the building to the noise and commotion of the dense traffic of the close-by Saint-Exupery wharf as well as the Parisian ring-road.

By the way, the building is a very interesting one, with a lot of interesting details and a very modern design. It is a very good example of modern architecture in Paris.

the copyright holder. This page is a part of the digital collection of the University of Twente. It is not possible to identify the copyright holder for this page. If you are the copyright holder, please contact the University of Twente.

to see the only one that is placed in the middle of the transparent fields of glass, it is possible to make

