

We continue the series dedicated to the recipients of the 2009 AIA Housing Awards, with this well designed apartment building.

The building provides 79 apartments and supportive services for low-income residents and former foster youth at risk of becoming homeless.

The ground floor is activated by retail spaces that encourage pedestrian street use in the neighborhood.

Photograph of the Madison @ 14th Apartments building in Oakland, California, showing a modern multi-story structure with a grid of windows and colorful panels (yellow and orange) on the facade. The building is situated on a street corner, with a red car and a blue car visible in the foreground. The image is overlaid with a large, semi-transparent watermark reading "Photograph © Tim Griffith Photographer".

Photograph of the Madison @ 14th Apartments building in Oakland, California, showing a modern multi-story structure with a grid of windows and colorful panels (yellow and orange) on the facade. The building is situated on a street corner, with a red car and a blue car visible in the foreground. The image is overlaid with a large, semi-transparent watermark reading "Photograph © Tim Griffith Photographer".

consciousness parkingsustainable features is here great natural ventilation with operable windows is a

Project: 160 Madison @ 14th Apartments in Oakland, California, CA
Photograph © Tim Griffith Photographer
Electrical Engineers (electrical)