

Birkerød's new sports and recreation centre is a multi-purpose hub in Birkerød's public space. The site is elongated and has two very distinct sides: an urban side with traffic circulating, and a green, recreational side.

The project covers the new build of a multi-purpose sports hall, an activity foyer, a fitness centre, dance studios, a balcony for children and young people and the erection of a covered football stand. It also includes the refurbishment of the existing stadium building.

- 1 Sports Centre
- 2 Existing Public Swimming Pool
- 3 Training- and Hot Waterpool
- 4 Existing Stand
- 5 Grand Stand
- 6 Show Pitch
- 7 Training Pitch
- 8 Public School
- 9 High School

Since the building is a public building, the lighting and heating are regarded as part of the building's design.

and the upper floor of the sports hall, designed to provide a stop to the play area

P

© Schmidt Hammer Lassen Architects. Birkerød Sports and Leisure Centre, 2009. Photo: A/S
Bygghøj, Birkerød, Denmark. Design: Schmidt Hammer Lassen Architects. Photo: A/S