

Another neatly crafted little house from Bates Masi + Architects. This 2-level house, referred to by its' Owner as his "tree house", is situated in a dense grove of pines and hollies with a view of the bay from the second level.

The approach by a raised wooden walkway arrives at a walled deck and glass entrance. Two guest bedrooms, bath and guest deck are on the first floor with a steel stair leading to the living, dining, kitchen and Master Suite on the second floor.

At the end of the hallway, a wooden chair sits on a wooden floor, looking out onto a lush green landscape. The walls are made of dark wood, and the floor is made of light wood. The chair is made of dark wood and has a high back. The window is made of dark wood and has a view of trees and a white flower bush.

The house has 1500-sq. ft. exclusive of decking.
