

The Madrona Residence is the synthesis of site utilization, building technology, and client program. This synthesis results in a contemporary home respectful to its traditional setting while allowing the owners the space, light, and exterior spaces the property affords.

The site, a substandard lot measuring thirty-five feet wide by one-hundred five feet deep, is located mid-block along a wonderful residential street lined with a row of large, animated maple trees. From the sidewalk, the property slopes gently away to the east with an existing rockery defining the rear property line.

Common to many of the houses on the street are the following: first there is a consistent setback from the sidewalk, second nearly all the homes encompass the full width of their lots, and third most of the homes are a full two stories in height with roofs at the zoning height limit. Detail and character vary from neo-colonial to Seattle bungalow in style.

Copyright © 2009 Vandeventer + Carlander Architects. All rights reserved. No part of this document may be reproduced without the written permission of Vandeventer + Carlander Architects.

Copyright © 2009 Vandeventer + Carlander Architects. All rights reserved. No part of this document may be reproduced without the written permission of Vandeventer + Carlander Architects.

Copyright © 2009 Vandeventer + Carlander Architects. All rights reserved. No part of this document may be reproduced without the written permission of Vandeventer + Carlander Architects.

Site plan showing the location of the building on the lot. The building is located on the right side of the lot, adjacent to the street. The lot is bounded by the street to the north and east, and by the existing building to the south. The building is shown in a light gray color, and the lot is shown in a light blue color. The street is shown in a dark gray color. The image is a site plan, and it shows the layout of the lot and the building. The building is located on the right side of the lot, adjacent to the street. The lot is bounded by the street to the north and east, and by the existing building to the south. The building is shown in a light gray color, and the lot is shown in a light blue color. The street is shown in a dark gray color. The image is a site plan, and it shows the layout of the lot and the building.

Copyright © 2009 Vandeventer + Carlander Architects. All rights reserved. No part of this document may be reproduced without the written permission of Vandeventer + Carlander Architects.