

With a track record of over 30 years in the industry, Ong&Ong has earned an unparalleled reputation for integrating skilled architecture, clever interior design, creative sense for environmental branding and sensitive landscape design. Paramount to our success lies in our insistence on servicing our clients with creativity, excellence and commitment. We continually strive to uphold our mission to be the designer of our age - a premier design practice both locally and in the region.

Faced with many tenets today, design is often varied and fragmented. To resolve this challenge, Ong&Ong adopts a 360° design solution which provides a framework for threading cross-discipline approach into a singular integrated design solution, encompassing all aspects of design from master planning, architecture, and interior design to landscape design and project management.

In addition to projects in Singapore, Ong&Ong has also completed large-scale developments regionally. This has prompted the setting up of offices in China, Vietnam, India and Malaysia. In-depth knowledge of local context, culture and regulations allow us to better understand our clients' needs. We are an ISO14001 certified practice and consistently strive to meet and exceed clients' expectations.

Corporate Philanthropy

The spirit of philanthropy is deeply embedded in the culture of Ong&Ong. Education is a key component of Ong&Ong's philanthropic effort, centering at the architectural society. The Ong&Ong Travelling Fellowship was first established in 1997 with the objective to allow gifted graduates the opportunity to pursue the knowledge and experience of the built environment through independent travel. In 2000, the Ong Siew May Professorship was set up to pave the way for architects worldwide to lecture at the National University of Singapore's Department of Architecture.

In addition to our commitment to supporting design excellence, Ong&Ong established a Preceptorship Programme with Rice University since 2000 and Internship Prizes with UC Berkeley, Harvard University and Pontificia Universidad Javeriana in Bogota, Columbia.

Corporate History

Founding partners, the late Mr. Ong Teng Cheong and Mrs. Ong Siew May, established Ong&Ong Architects in 1972. Since its humble beginnings, the firms' staff strength has more than 3 fold over the past 3 decades. Robust and exceptional leadership and management led to the organisation's incorporation in 1992.
