

The Neighborhood Resource Center (NRC) is an outpost for city services in an area that has historically been a liability to the community, impacted by age, neglect and high crime.

She targeted the design and construction of a facility that is modest in scale and budget but creates a

Exterior view of the Broadway Heritage Resource Center building at dusk.

Aside from glazing along the street facade, the building's design allows the rooms to be open to the building's activities.

